Antioch leaps into its 24th or 96th year

The Village of Antioch will be of-ficially either 96 years old on Feb. 29 or 24 years old, depending on how one looks at it.

The village was incorporated in 1892, a leap year, on the last day in February.

Word from the village hall has no official celebration set, mainly because the birthday falls on a fifth, nonmeeting, Monday.

Last leap year, in 1984, the village officials and staff celebrated with a birthday cake with 21 candles on it feting the village's coming of the legal. age of 21.

Members asked to give funding for solid waste support for the importance and urgency of Lake County's solid waste planning project, the Board of Directors of the Lake County Joint Action Solid Waste Planning Agency passed a resolution that should assure continuation of funding for the project.

The agency acted upon learning that their $350,000 state waste management planning grant had been terminated Jan. 31 due to inaction by the state legislature.

In a one-day session on Jan. 13, the General Assembly failed to act for a third time on an omnibus environmental bill that would have assured continued funding of Lake County's grant.

"We are very disappointed that the IEPA terminated our grant due to inaction by the state legislature," said Verna Clayton, chairman of the agency. "However, I am very pleased by the strong local support which the agency members demonstrated at this meeting. The momentum of the project will falter if we wait six months for the state to act."

The agency representatives voted to request proportionate funding from each member in order to meet this fiscal year's estimated deficit of $189,540. This is the estimated amount that would have been paid to the agency in 1988 by IEPA grant funds.

Municipal assessments are based on a formula adopted by the agency last fall. Municipal assessments range from $2,407 for Wadsworth to $28,780 for Waukegan. The formula is based on population, number of housing units and assessed value.

Ken Marabella, chairman of the education and public relations committee, emphasized that it is the agency's position that local funding will be repaid. He referred to a letter from the IEPA encouraging the agency to go ahead with this project, and that although the IEPA is unable to make any financial commitments,

Cupid's decline

After steady decline in marriage licenses issued by Lake County Clerk's office in mid-80s, 1987 showed a hefty jump in total licenses issued. But legislation requiring AIDs test before marriage license is issued may halt that increase fewer marriage licenses were issued in January, 1988 than in any similar period this decade.

Backlash to AIDS law creeps across border

by IRIS MAYFIELD

January marriages gone? Are Lake County couples playing a waiting game because of the new AIDS legislation?

Lake County Clerk Linda Hess says that 114 marriage licenses were issued this January, less than half of the 245 issued in January 1987. Since 1982, the fewest January marriage licenses issued were 204 in 1986.

Hess said that even if the December, 1987 increase is added to January's total, the numbers are still way low.

"After a steady four year decline in the number of marriage licenses issued in Lake Where have all the County, 1987 showed a definite increase in that number," Hess said. The upward trend, though, appears to have been stopped dead in its tracks.

> Effective Jan. 1, 1988, the law required couples applying for a marriage license to show proof of being tested for AIDS. The law does not require the release of information on results of the test, just that couples have the test and that results be released to both parties. The test costs about $50 per Hess said the law had a definite effect on the issuing of the first license of the year.

"Usually our first couple arrives early in the morning on our first business day of the year, and we have a bouquet and a box of candy to present to them," she explained, "but this year. our flowers wilted and the candy got eaten before our first couple finally applied near closing time on our third business day of the year."

Kenosha County records show 18 Illinois couples were issued January, 1988 marriage licenses. But, last year. only two Illinois couples were issued January marriage licenses there.

Theresa Weber will head parks on part-time basis

by GLORIA DAVIS

Following the resignation of longtime full time Antioch Parks and Recreation Dir. Glenda Tomaschtik, the Antioch Village Board has changed that position into a part time one.

Theresa Weber will head the parks department on weekends until summer when she will be in charge of parks and recreation on a full time basis at a salary of $7 per hour.

At its last regular meeting, the board approved a payment of $114,792.40 to Alliance Contractors for the improvement of Hillside Ave. The funds for the street construction came from motor fuel taxes.

The board also hired John Ruffin to work for the public works department at a salary of $8 per hour.

In other action, the board passed an ordinance increasing the fire district tax levy from 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to 25 cents. The increase will allow the fire department to purchase needed equipment.

The board also approved the issuance of a Class B liquir license to the new

Luta outlines post office changes caused by cutbacks

An administrative hiring freeze and a cutback in window service hours are among the measures the U.S. Postal Service is taking to comply with the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987, Postmaster Stanley A. Luta said.

He said the legislation requires the postal service to make various payments to the federal govenment over 21 month period amounting to one and one-quarter billion dollars.

Postmaster Luta said the window service cutback, effective at all post offices on Feb. 13., means the elimination of the equivalent of one-half day per week of retail hours.

Postmaster Luta said he and his staff had determined that the least impact on customers would occur by closing windows, effective Tuesday, Feb. 16 at the Antioch Post Office.

Window hours open are Monday -Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and Saturday, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Postmaster Luta said that customers who require postage stamps during the closing hours can visit the post office lobby where a stamp vending unit is available.

Postmaster Luta said other areas affected by the budget cuts would include: a substantial curtailment of postal service administrative expenditures for training, travel, supplies and similar expenses; Sunday mail processing and collection plans will be adjusted effective Feb. 14. The postal service will not pick up or process mail from collection boxes on Sunday. The exception will be the Toft St. boxes and the boxes in front of the Antioch Post Office.

Postmaster Luta also stated that the post office will be closed on Monday, Feb. 15,a national holiday, Washington's Birthday.

Battling at the crossroads

If Mundelein, Vernon Hills and Long Grove were feudal states during the days of knighthood instead of municipal corporations in 1988, the villages likely would be engaged in armed combat over annexation rights to the intersection of Rtes. 45 and 83, where 40 years ago the major landmark was a small eating establishment called the Chicken House and the crossing was known as Four Points.

As urbanization continues to roll over the countryside, though, the present intersection is a far cry from the Chicken House days. Present day crossings of two major thoroughfares are highly desirable for their strategic role in municipal growth and development. So the three villages are going to war over Four Points.

Long Grove is laying claim to a portion of the intersection on the basis of a northward thrust of its boundaries that would have made Gen. Patton proud. Long Grove village fathers followed the path of a Commonwealth Edison high tension line right-of-way on a now famous New Year's Eve junket to get where they wanted to be. Both Mundelein and Vernon Hills cried foul and are seeking redress in the courts. Where this three-way tussle will end up might be the ingredients of a made-fortv documentary.

Not far away in northeast Cook County a similar battle is taking place where the villages of Glenview, Northbrook and Northfield are in a legal joust for the rights to carve up for development the heralded Techny area, 1,200 acres of undeveloped land that has been put on the sales block by two Catholic orders, Society of the Divine Word and the Holy Spirit Missionary

Land promoters see the Techny lands as ideal for mixed office, retail, commercial, light industry and residential. About the only uses the developers haven't envisioned are a park and a landfill.

A good idea why the villages are willing to slug it out in annexation arguments spending untold sums of public funds can be seen by considering the prospective price tags for Techny real estate-$40,000 per acre for residential, $60,000 per acre for industrial and $100,000 per acre for officecommercial. The stakes are high. Village governments can thrive on taxes and building fees generated by development at those prices.

Professional planners must be having nightmares over the tug o' wars that ensue when strategic locations are coveted by more than one municipality. Orderly planning becomes a joke. The battles aren't nice to watch, but they seem inevitable as long as unincorporated territory exists. We're waiting for the day when village officials start stockpiling crossroads like cordwood. It shouldn't be long.

Time to support schools face of five unsuccessful tax rate increase referenda for Unit School Dist. 118. Now "crunch time" is approaching to raise the educational tax rate March 15 and keep the public schools running normally. Sympathetic citizens in neighboring communities are hoping wisdom and understanding will prevail this time and that the much-needed increase will be approved. We stand with those who support the referendum, both district residents and non-

Cruel charges have been hurled against the Wauconda-Island Lake community as the losing referendum string has extended. Labeling the district "anti-education," suffering from a "blue collar mentality" or possessing a "tight little island complex" has served only to stiffen opposition instead of rallying supporters. Now parents of school-age children and backers of the referendum are getting desperate, fairly pleading with fellow townspersons to vote the first tax rate increase in 24 years to give their young people a schooling to keep abreast with

Dist. 118 officials seem determined to reduce expenditures to the bare basics if the March 15 vote fails. Member schools in the Northwest Suburban Conference (Marian Central, Marengo, Johnsburg, Grant, Round Lake, Lake Zurich and Grayslake) have been put on notice that Wauconda will withdraw from conference activities if the referendum fails. We believe school officials mean what they say. The situation is Dist. 118 ranks at the bottom of five unit school districts in Lake County with a $2.20 rate, the other four unit districts all having found it necessary to put educational rate increases into place in the past several years. Dist. 118's per pupil expenditure of $3,113 is one of the lowest in the county. It's hard to conceive school financing worsening with prospects of a million dollar plus deficit for the 1987-88 term.

Viewpoint

Try for Size: Grace Mary vs. Chairman Neal

byBILL SCHROEDER

Democrats are approaching the March 15 referendum on the controversial county executive form of government with love/hate feelings.

Philosophically, they're opposed to the measure that would implant an atlarge elected head of Lake County government. Politically, they see the success of the measure, introduced by County Republican Chairman Robert "Bob" Neal, as a golden opportunity.

If the Neal driven proposal is successful, the Democrats will slate State Rep. Grace Mary Stern as opponent of the GOP chief, who even his friends admit is on a massive ego trip to enhance both his personal political fortunes and solidify the GOP in county government.

Knowledgeable Republicans have told this column that just the opposite will happen. George Bell, a former Lake County Board chairman and lifelong Republican, told us that institution of a county executive would establish "Chicago style, patronage politics" in Lake County. "We don't want that," declared Bell, who is supervisor of Fremont Township and Fremont Republican chairman.

One Republican leader, who asked that his name not be used, exclaimed: "Grace Mary would eat Bob Neal alive. They're itching to get at him."

Stern confounded Lake Conty political history when elected county clerk more than a decade ago, the first Democrat to win county office since the redoubtable Russ Alfred back in the Roosevelt Depression era. She now is a state representative.

WEATHERVANES --- Political observers are keeping close tabs on how some weathervane events are shaping up for County Board races in Dist. 6, Wauconda, Fremont, Cuba and Ela townships, and Dist. 4, Antioch, Lake Villa, Grant and Avon townships. These western townships are considered the "hot spots" in the March 15 Republican primary for bringing about change in county government.

Sunday, Feb. 28, backers of Supervisor Wayne Miller of Cuba Township are tossing a fund raiser at Mer's Restaurant in Wauconda to get him better known outside his home Barrington area. Wednesday, March 2, incumbent Dist. 4 Rep. Fred Popp, Lake Villa, will be honored at a buffet dinner at Johnny D's Pier 83, Rte. 83, Grayslake.

Two key GOP events in Dist. 6 already are history, an afternoon affair Sunday, Feb. 7, in Lake Zurich honoring incumbent Dist. 6 Rep. Rich Anderson and Bobbie O'Reilly, who are running as a team, and a Tuesday, Feb. 9, shindig for Dist. 6 committee persons staged by backers of Miller and incumbent Dist. 6 Rep. Jerry Beyer in Wauconda. Anderson and Beyer are rated in a dead heat.

The big one everyone has an eye on will be Saturday, Feb. 13, at Country House, Antioch, where Dist. 4 challengers Suzi Schmidt and Larry Leafblad will hold forth at a Valentine dance. Leafblad and Schmidt have been working more than a year to put the skids to Popp and the other incumbent Dist. 4 Rep. James "Jim" Fields. The fact that the event is in Field's hometown isn't coincidental. Leafblad will be in the limelight constantly with political speeches and leading the Original Scotch Lads band. Leafblad is considered to have an excellent chance of winning a nomination.

 PLENTY FAST-Former Chicago Alderman Edward "Fast Eddie" Vrdolyak lived up to his nickname in an appearance at the annual Grant Township Lincoln Day dinner last Saturday night. Billed as guest speaker, Vrdolyak appeared shortly after 8 p.m., talked briefly about how he got into Democratic politics, answered a few questions and was heading back to the South Side before 9 o'clock.

Vrodlyak got good marks from the capacity crowd of nearly 500 persons with his blunt, street-wise sytle and boasts that he will "change history" converting Cook County to Republicanism now that he's joined the GOP.

"Fast Eddie" is great at tossing off one liners like: "All I want from government is to stay out of my way and don't pick my pocket." As for substance, his only significant observation was that redistricting with the 1990 census will have a great deal to do with political history in Cook County and Illinois. "If the right people do the job," snickered Eddie, Republicans can pick up two seats in the State Senate and two in Congress. Vrdolyak is Chicago to the core. I don't know, though, whether he's material for the governor's mansion in Springfield as some exuberant Republicans were talking about.

 ON WISCONSIN-Gov. Tommy G. Thompson of Wisconsin swore in a special Wisconsin Naval recruit company of 80 youths Wednesday, Feb. 10 in Madison who will take basic training at Great Lakes so they can serve aboard the recommissioned battleship USS Wisconsin. The ship now is undergoing modernization at a shipyard in Mississippi so that it can be put into service in October. According to the Navy, this is the first time that a recruit company from any state has trained together and then assigned to serve together on the same ship.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY-Pop learned his lesson a long time ago that you have to shop early for valentines. As a prospective bridegroom, he waited until the last minute to pick out the perfect card for his future bride. By that time, the most passionate card left was an ode "To my favorite aunt." Foolishly, I decided something was better than nothing. That's not true and gamesmanship.

Good sense must prevail. Enough is the loose again. This time Quinn, who hides governmental mischief behind a shield of dogoodism for the "pee-pul," has launched a new Illinois public interest group, citizens for Constitutional Reform, to win grassroots support for a constitutional convention for the purpose of reforming the Illinois Constitution. Quinn, who foisted single district representation in the General Assembly upon us, the so-called Cutback Amendment, is convinced that another Con Con is necessary to undo injustices of the 1970 convocation. He's the only one who feels the 1970 Constitution needs overhauling. Quinn is the founder of the nice sounding Coalition for Political Honesty, which he claims is responsible for ethics reforms, tax reform, utility reform and environmental protection. He doesn't lay claim to doing away with ingrown toenails.

The unnecessary Con Con would cost millions and put Illinois government into limbo for several years. There is no crying need for Constitutional reform. Quinn is correct that the rewriters of 1970 provided for presentation of a convention every 20 years in the form of Give Quinn a message Lock the doors! Patrick Quinn is on a binding referendum. So the proposition will be on the ballot this year. Taxpayers will be doing themselves a favor by defeating the measure. If the vote is decision enough, perhaps Mr. Quinn will get the message.

Lincoln no saint, but his greatness saved U.S.

ON FRIDAY, FEB. 12, we celebrate the 179th birthday of the Illinois Legislature's most distinguished alumnus - and our nation's greatest President, Abraham Lincoln.

Sadly, few today understand the nature of his greatness. Schoolmarms teach that he freed the slaves; revisionist historians complain that freeing the slaves was but a secondary goal to him. Both are right while missing the point entirely.

There was no doubt that America could not and would not remain a slaveholding nation. The questions were when slavery would end and how many of the "united" states would remain after its end. In every word he ever spoke or wrote on the subject, Lincoln declared slavery an absolute evil which was on the course of "ultimate extinction." As President, Lincoln said repeatedly that if, by allowing slavery to continue, he could save the Union, he would do so and that if, by abolishing it entirely he could save the Union, he would do that.

What Lincoln accomplished was far more fundamental and profound than either the schoolmarms or the revisionists understand. When the southern states began seceding, many of the most ardent abolitionists counseled that they should be told, "Errant sisters, go in peace."

In 1860, the United States was still an experiment. The nation was "conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." Whether "any nation, so conceived and so dedicated (could) long endure," was a question to which most intellectuals of the time would have answered, "no."

No nation in history was founded on such a broad concept of liberty and equality.

Had the "errant sisters" been allowed to go in peace, the experiment would have ended in failure, for every vexing sectional crisis that arose thereafter would have led to further division through secession. Lincoln's peculiar genius was his understanding that before any particular matter of policy could be decided, the Union must be saved.

Throughout his Presidency, Lincoln alone remained consistent. All around him, doves became hawks and hawks became doves. Near the end of the war, a southern delegation met in secret with Lincoln and proposed that if the emancipation proclamation were to be rescinded, there could be national reconciliation and an end to the war. Even some abolitionist advisors urged Lincoln to consider the proposal. He would not.

When the doves become hawks urged Lincoln to punish the south at the end of the war, he would have none of it. "With malice towards none and charity for close in both the House and Senate. A all," was his plan for reconciliation.

In the center of the vortex, it was Lincoln who saw beyond his own time and had the vision of America as a great nation and the hope of the world.

Before his run for the Senate in 1858, Lincoln's reputation had been that of a politically skilled hack, a wheeler and dealer in the Illinois House who shamelessly padded his travel bills during his one term in the U.S. Congress. He was little known outside of Illinois before his race against Stephen Douglas for the Senate.

It was the crisis over slavery and the looming threat of secession that energized him. He was a master at wheeling and dealing but when the crisis came, it was Lincoln who understood that there could be no deal made involving the dissolution of this nation.

The founding fathers created this nation in 1776. But it was Abraham Lincoln who brought it through its fiery trial and it is to his credit that it endures today.

Forget the plaster saint of the schoolmarms and the somewhat-lessthan-great emancipator of the revisionists and study the real Abraham Lincoln. In this election year, it is inspiring to know that 128 years ago we elevated a poorly-known hack to the Presidency - and his greatness preserved the greatest nation in history.

WHY SHOULD REPUBLICANS outside of Cook County be interested in Ed Vrdolyak's conversion to the Republican Party? For many, it is because the conversion is likely to have a more immediate affect on state politics rather than city politics. 1992 will be a redistricting year for the legislature. Republicans complain that the state was carved up like a Christmas goose by Democrats who controlled the WKRS (1220 AM), this is on of the legislature in 1982. Even so, the division change of two seats in the Senate would switch control to the Republicans.

There are enough close Cook County districts that Vrdolyak, by shifting a few votes, could shift control of the legislature away from Democrats and to Republicans just in time for redistricting.

Vrdolyak spoke before the Grant Twp. Republican Club last week and was given a hearty welcome. Some in the crowd were even talking about Vrdolyak for Governor.

LOVE AND POLITICS go hand in hand. If you don't believe it, just ask Gary Hart.

In that spirit, two political fundraisers are being held this Valentine's weekend. Larry Leafblad and Suzi Schmidt, who are challenging incumbents Fred Popp and Jim Fields in County Board Dist. 4, will hold a dance at the Country House in Antioch at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 13. Entertainment will be provided by the original Scotch Lads and K-Ace.

Republican Party Chairman Bob Neal will have a bash at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 14, at the Carlton in Waukegan

From 10 a.m. to noon on Monday, Feb. 15, Leafblad, Schmidt, Popp and Fields will go at it with each other on hottest races going and should make for between Democrats and Republicans is interesting listening

Letters To The Editor

Impact fees advocated

Editor:

How many times have we been told that zoning has been granted for a new development in Lake County? This developer presents his plans to the zoning board and his experts testify to the impact this small development will have on the schools, traffic, sewers, etc.

Take a recent rezoning in Avon 'Negligence' proved Township for example. When talking of schools the planners said 1.137 students would be generated per household. A professional engineer reported that any additional volume of traffic could be easily accomodated and that most back-ups at traffic signals could be alleviated by changing the signal cycles from two minutes to one minute in length.

On and on go the experts and tell us how little effect their development will have on our area. Very few elected officials ever stop to think that there are many, many small developments being built and when you start adding up the number of homes planned, you are no longer talking about a mere 50 or 100 homes but thousands of homes. These thousands of homes generate thousands of people, children and cars, tons of garbage, added usuage of the sewerage treatment plant, etc.

The State of Illinois Capital Development Board has put out guidelines as far as school costs are concerned. They know exactly how many square feet of school you need for each child, what the square foot cost is to build the school, and how much land is needed for buildings and playgrounds. According to their figures Editor: if you need to pay for schools for 1,000 dwelling units generating 1,137 students the cost would be approximately $7 million dollars or $7,000 per household.

Why then, don't we have impact fees? If houses must be built because the population is growing, fine! But why not have the developers pay for the improvements they are generating? We are not talking about just the schools, but also the widening of roads, expansion of sewerage plants, building new fire stations, added police protection, need for larger jail, more traffic lights, etc. The list is endless.

California communities have turned to developers to foot the bill for growth, charging "impact fees" to pay for everything from schools and libraries to highway interchanges. These fees amount to $6,500 and more for each new dwelling unit. Yet, Lake County has no impact fee. Who ends up footing the bill? We the taxpayer. Why can't our elected officials understand this?

On Nov. 17, 1987, my husband and I appeared before the Lake County Building and Health Committee. We charged the Dept. of Building and Zoning and Director Robert Streicher with negligence.

On Nov. 28, 1987, under the Freedom of Information Act, we requested records of all inspections done on our new home. We were forced to request these specific records three different times. After each request, the Dept. of Building and Zoning invited us to come to the department and view the requested records. On all three occasions, the requested inspection records were not available.

After our third request, Streicher informed us that the records were "missing."

Thanks, Bob, we told you on Nov. 17 you run a negligent department and on Jan. 18, 1988, you proved we were right.

'Pushy' nonsmokers

We were taking a bus to Muscatine and were waiting at the station. When it came time to board we were pushed aside by fellow passengers so they could get the rear seats. These people were nonsmokers who wanted the rear seats to prevent others from smoking in the only seats where smoking is allowed. Then these people refused to move, even though other seats were available. Out tax money is going to help pay for these subsidies for public places and we are discriminated against. I for one do not think this is right or lawful.

Concern over a resolution urging stronger enforcement and inspection of landfills sparked controversy at the Lake County Board meeting. But the real donnybrook didn't begin until members began disussing the referendum on whether to create a county executive.

The resolution on landfills, which was presented by the building and health committee, drew fire from Bruce Hansen (R-Lake Zurich). who said, "The heart of what we want to accomplish is to keep Wauconda Sand & Gravel on the EPA Superfund list. That is our top priority and it is not addressed in this resolution. If the EPA already been passed and Board Chairman Jim of order, but discussion proceeded on the issue anyway.

Helen Belmont Amendola (R-Highland Park), chairman of the Hansen wanted a The resolution had stronger resolution in addition to the one passed, the committee Fields (R-Antioch) ruled would support it. But Hansen's comments out Hansen wanted the resolution reconsidered. Jerry Beyer (R-Wauconda) said he had talked with representatives from the EPA and received assurance that Wauconda Sand & Gravel doesn't pay, citizens of building and health would remain on the committee said that if Superfund list, but that he would support reconsideration of the resolution.

The board voted 15-8 to reconsider the resolution in order to strengthen it. The issue will be reconsidered at next month's regular meeting.

After the regular board meeting, each member was given three minutes to discuss anything they wished. Discussion centered on the proposal to create a county executive and the sparks flew.

Before the meeting started, the staff had passed out copies of a report published by the Lake County League of Women Voters entitled, "Six Stumbling Blocks in the road to...County Executive Referendum." Bob Neal (R-Wadsworth), who is spearheading the effort to pass the referendum, responded by distributing literature supporting the referendum near the end of the meeting. C. Richard Anderson (R-Barrington) objected to Neal passing out political literature during a meeting and called Neal "this egomaniac running around for his own political purposes."

Neal later said that he objected to county staff and facilities being used to distribute what he considered to be a political piece by the League of Women Voters. 'No taxpayers money was used to put out my literature and no county staff was assigned to distribute it," Neal said. Neal is also chairman of the Lake County Republican Central Committee and has said he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination if the referendum passes.

Hansen said there is nothing wrong with streamlining government, but that he could not support the referendum because it was not introduced by an independent study group which had given scholarly study to the various methods of accomplishing that purpose.

Matt Miholic (R-Lake Bluff) said, "I've been listening to a lot of rhetoric, here. We had a chance (to go with an atlarge chairman) in 1982 and everybody didn't want to take that power away from themselves. Everybody has a right to decide for themselves."

Miholic berated board members for the personal attacks on Neal rather than than focusing on the referendum itself.

Eleanor Rostron (R-Waukegan) said the board could create a chairman at-large in the 1992 redistricting year and emphasized that the people should be allowed to select the candidates rather than committeemen. If the referendum passes, the first candidates will be selected by party committeemen and the executive chosen by the voters at the November general election. In elections after that, candidates would go through the normal primary process.

Neal said that the only way to give voters a choice was by the executive referendum. "Voters are not allowed petition for a referendum on an atlarge chairman - only the board can do that. We had a chance to do it in 1972 and in 1982 and we did not. This is the only chance the voters will get to decide for themselves.' Sam Payne (D-Zion) suggested that the board should take a formal position on the question at next month's meeting.

Obituary

William R. Laechelt

age 101, died Tuesday, Feb. 2, 1988 in Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan.

Active and in fair health, Laechelt had been living with his daughter and son-in-law, Lillian and Donald Klem of Waukegan, for the past four and a half years.

"He was never in a nursing home, and the only day he never walked in his life was Monday, the day before he died," his son-in-law said. "He was climbing trees when he was 97 years old. In fact, he fell out and never got hurt."

Laechelt moved in with his daughter after suffering a slight stroke. Just before that, Laechelt, a lifetime agriculturist, was operating a small nursery and living on his own in Davis, just east of Freeport. Born November 7, 1886 in Chicago, Laechelt was a longtime resident of Ivanhoe and active in farm and gardening affairs in Lake County. He was a member of the Lake County Farm Brueau, was one of the organizers of the Historical Society of the Fort Hill Country, a member of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Assn., and had been a 4-H Club leader in Ivanhoe for 20 years.

"The main thing was his 4-H kids," Lillian Klem said. "Johnny Conolly (former state senator) who just passed away was one of his boys. The first time Johnny went to Springfield, he was on a 4-H trip with my father." Laechelt was a charter member of the Libertyville-Mundelein Garden Club and caretaker of the Tolman-Smith Estate in Ivanhoe.

Survivors include two daughters, Lillian Klem of Waukegan, Illinois, and Martha Rebhorn of White Bear Lake, Minnesota; four sons, August of La Valle, Wis., Robert of Villa Park, Ben of Lombard and Edward Laechelt of Pecatonica, along with 18 grandchildren, 23 greatgrandchildren, a sister, two brothers, and many nieces and nephews. age 76, of Reedsburg, Wisconsin passed away Saturday, February 6, 1988 in St. Joseph's Hospital, Hillsboro, Wisconsin. Born on September 12, 1911 in Juneau County, Wisconsin to James and Catherine (nee Sullivan) Green, she was married to Robert Willemarck on January 24, 1934 in St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lyndon Station, Wisconsin. He preceded her in death on September 1, 1980.

She is survived by six sons, James of Wisconsin Dells, Robert of Antioch, Illinois, Charles and Thomas, both of Round Lake, Illinois, Donald of Custer, Wis., and Paul of Casa Grande, Arizona; one daughter, Martha Rose (Mrs. Willard) Schoen of Wonewoc, Wisconsin; 18 grandchildren; eight greatgrandchildren; and one sister, Rose Green of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. She was preceded in death by two brothers, John and Edgar Green; two sisters, Gertrude Coleman and Mary Ellen Walsh; and two grandchildren, Russell and Robin Willemarck.

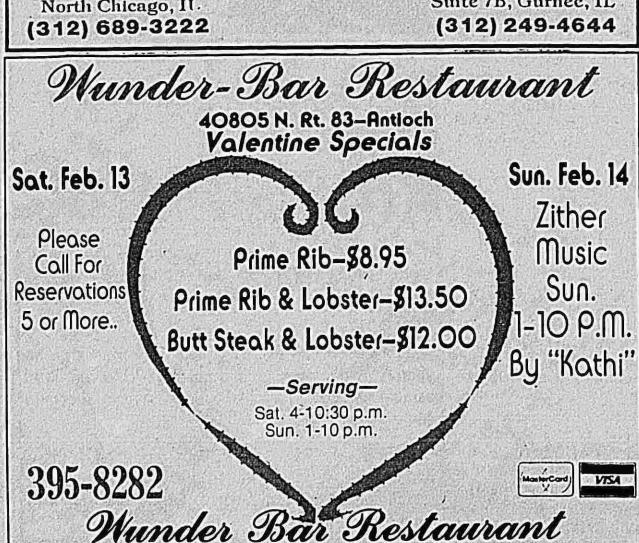

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday, Feb. 9, 1988 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Reedsburg, with Father Gerald P. Vosen officiating. Burial followed in Calvary Cemetery in Reedsburg, A rosary was recited Monday evening at the GANT FUNERAL HOME, 1136 E. Main St., Reedsburg, Wisconsin:

Maras loves challenge of job and life

by BILL DOTSON

Angela Maras' office is practically a story in itself. On the rear wall, the Hawthorn Center Friendship Quilt-(designed and coordinated by Maras and Barrington Historical Society Director Barbara Benson) dominates the room with it's bright colors. The quilt depicts events at Hawthorn and was stitched together by 23 volunteers.

Near the door is a photo of former president Gerald Ford and his wife Betty, signed "To the Maras family," best wishes". On the walls behind her desk are numerous photos of the people and events that have been at the mall over the years- shots of last summer's Lettermen concert, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Great America's Bugs Bunny, the Easter Bunny with Maras' grandson, and others.

Her desk, like Maras herself, is remarkably well-organized, considering all that it contains. Displayed prominently is a copy of the book "The Success System That Never Fails" by W. Clement Stone, whose philosophies Maras credits much of her own success to.

Angela Maras

"Clement Stone has had a great deal of influence on my life," she stresses. "People tell me I should write to him and tell him how I feel, Maybe I could just get him on the phone someday. I wouldn't have time to write:"

Its easy to see why not. Now in her 13th year as Marketing and Public Relations Director for Hawthorn Shopping Center in Vernon Hills, the demands of Maras' challenging job often consume much of her time. Her responsibilities include all special events, mall decorations, publicity, personnel, and directing all advertising, to name just a few.

Yet she still manages to work in time for other interests, including boating and skiing (she has been a member of the Wilmot Ski Patrol for many years, and it was on a skiing trip to their house in Vail, CO. that she and her husband met the Fords). (Continued to Page 17)

Gurnee National Bank names Nickerson

The television commercial is Chicago and the Fairmont Hotel in New probably familiar. A young couple walks into a bank seeking a loan. Five bankers peer over their application for Community College, New Orleans, and a car loan, and say: "you know, we will have to know what you doing with all these cars".

> That, as far as new Gurnee National Bank President Bradley Nickerson is concerned, is the old image of bankers.

"We would like to make our bank more visible. What makes one bank different from another is the service it provides," Nickerson said.

Nickerson said the bank does not necessarily have a set policy when it comes to loans. "I believe you tailor a good for the bank," he said. Nickerson said the Gurnee area is unique in that it is still small, yet growing. One of the latest trends in banking over the last five years has been cash stations, or 24-hour banking. The bank's cash station now accepts all Money

Network cards. Nickerson said that he expects mortgage rates to stay the same over the short-term, 30-60 days, but then fluctuate over a point in either direction over the remainder of 1988.

Brenton J. Emmerick, chairman of the board for Gurnee National Bank, announced Nickerson's appointment as president and director. Nickerson is replacing Alan J. Emmerick, who will remain on the board of directors of the Gurnee bank and will now be Executive Vice President and Dir. of First National Bank of Niles.

Nickerson served for 16 years at Bank of Waukegan where he was in commercial lending and investments, in addition to being vice president and director of the Northern Trust Co. He earned his B.A. and M.B.A. from Northern Illinois University and attended Graduate School of Banking at

Montgomery Ward & Co. moves to Lakehurst Mall

A new Montgomery Ward store in Lakehurst Mall in Waukegan will open April 12, according to Bernard F. Brennan, president and chief executive officer of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The Lakehurst location, formerly Wieboldt's, will be a full-line store with 81,500 square feet of selling space. It is a relocation of the smaller Montgomery Ward store in Belvider Mall.

"We are excited about our plans to serve the Waukegan area with a new store," Brennan said. "Waukegan has been a strong market for us, and this move enables us to offer our customers the very lastest in our specialty store strategies."

In 1985, the 116-year-old retailer began the transition from traditional mass merchandising to its successful value-driven specialty store strategy, which emphasizes national brand name merchandise, competitive pricing and market-driven merchandise categories.

- Maras and husband Daniel do a great deal of traveling, both in the U.S. and abroad. In November 1982, they visited Yugoslavia to watch their son and his University of Illinois teammates play an exhibition basketball game with the Yugoslavian national team. On the island of Hvar, Maras found a shop displaying eye-catching tapestries. She convinced the artist to exhibit her work the next year at one of Hawthorn's annual arts and crafts festivals. Does this mean that even on vacation, she can't leave work behind?

"I have learned to relax. Stress the word 'learned'", she laughs.

But she is always working on new ideas for shows at Hawthorn. She confirmed that much more goes into the preparation of events at Hawthorn than most people realize. "When they see an event out there, they think it just happens. But it's a lot of work setting these things up."

"Of course, I don't do these events alone"Maras said. "I have a nucleus of very talented people to work with. My secretary, Evelyn Bamford, is wonderful." Maras submitted her name as secretary of the year.

How did a wife and mother of three sons (and grandmother of two boys and a girl) get started in this demanding career? "The kids were pretty much grown when I started working. I don't believe in working when they're young." she said,

A graduate of the Marie Bouclear School of Design, a French dressmaking school, Maras was working with Phyllis MacMillan at MacMillan Productions when they did a show at Hawthorn in 1975. Helen DeWitt, who had Maras' present job and is now vice-president of marketing and public relations for the corporation that owns Hawthorn, was impressed with Maras and offered her the job.

"It was partly a matter of being in the right place at the right time." Maras said. "My background was in design and Helen DeWitt, one of my mentors, believed in me from the beginning."

Maras and her husband, a retired attorney, have lived in Antioch for 33 years, having moved out from Chicago. where she grew up, in 1956. She is a former Mrs. Illinois, first runner-up in the All-American Family Search, and recipient of the coveted Governor's Trophy for Design. She has been honored for volunteer work by the American Cancer Society and Grove School. She is listed in "Who's Who in Finance and Industry".

Maras seems to be living proof that the idea of a woman being able to successfully balance a full family and social life with a demanding career is not so much a myth after all.

"I believe women can do it. It's just that I love life. I'm excited about life. And one of my goals is to try and leave this world a better place for my having been here."

Witholding gets tricky with new tax law and W-4

As the April 15 income tax filing date approaches, some are thinking about how they'll spend their large refund, and some are worrying about how they're going to pay a huge tax bill. According to the Illinois CPA Society, the wise taxpayer will avoid both extremes.

Withholding is the government's way of collecting tax on salared income on a planned schedule. An employee with little or no other income must have a certain amount of money

Filing factors change in wake of tax reform

Whether one must file a or older, the figure is qualifying widows and tax return depends primarily on four factors: filing status, age, gross income and whether they are blind.

Since the Tax Reform Act of '86 raised income level for being required to file a tax return, fewer individuals will have to file returns for 1987.

If you are single and under 65, you must file a return if gross income was at least $4,440. If 65 $5,650.

If married and filing a joint return, you must file if income exceeds $7,560 if both spouses are under 65; $9,400 for one spouse 65 or older; $10,000 for both spouses 65 or older.

.If married and filing a separate return, you must file if your gross income is $1,900.

filing The requirements for heads of households and widowers have risen, as well.

Some people may have to file a tax return even if their gross income is less than outlined above. For instance, if selfemployed and net earnings are $400 or more, you must file.

You must also file a return regardless of gross income if, during the year, you received advance payments of the earned income credit, or if you owe any other taxes. A taxpayer who qualifies for the earned income credit can only claim the credit by filing a tax return.

If you are not required to file a return but had federal income tax withheld, you must file.

An individual who may be claimed as a dependent must file a return if his or her gross income exceeds the standard deduction, or if he or she has any unearned income and gross income over $500.

IRS wants to know about those tips

Employees to whom tips are allocated should report the allcoated tips as income on their income tax returns.

Tips are allocated by employers who compare the total of all tips reported by employees with eight percent (or lower) of an establishment's total food and beverage receipts. If records show that the total tips reported by employees fall below the applicable percentage, the employer will be required to allocate the difference between the two amounts among those employees who receive tips, and report the difference to the IRS.

Tip allocations are made only to employees who receive tips directly from customers unless there is an agreement that they be allocated among all tipped employees. Employers should withhold income, social security or railroad retirement tax only on the tips reported by the employees, not on the allocated amounts.

Food and beverage establishments where tipping is customary and that normally employ more than 10 persons are required to file an annual report with the IRS. The reported amount employees must include on their tax returns may be more or less than the allocated amount. However, the IRS may use the employer's annual report to determine that a tipped employee received a larger amount of income than reflected by the tip allocation.

With advance written approval from the IRS, certain employers or groups of employers may apply to have the allocation percentage reduced from eight percent to as low as two percent, if they can establish that the actual tip rate of the establishment is lower than eight percent of the establishment's total gross food and beverage receipts.

Employees who earn $20 or more a month in tips while working for one employer must report the total amount of these tips each month to their employer by the 10th day of the following month. Some employers may require these written reports more than once a month.

The monthly tip report must contain the employee's name, address, and social security number. The employer's name and address, the period covered, and the total amount of tips must also be in the report, which must be signed and dated by the employee. Keeping daily tip records will make preparing the monthly report easier, according to the IRS.

IRS Publication 1244, "Reporting Income from Tips," contains free forms for maintaining a daily tip record and preparing monthly reports.

Currency must be

Any person who, in the course of a trade or business, receives more than $10,000 in cash or foreign currency in one transaction, or in two or more related transactions, must report the payment to the Internal Revenue Service.

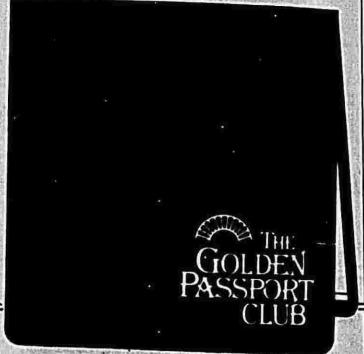

The transaction is reported on Form 8300, Report of Cash Payments over $10,000 Received in a Trade or Business, which must be filed with the IRS by the 15th day after the transaction.

A statement must also be provided to the person making the payment by Jan. 31 of the next year. For more information, contact the IRS.

Careful-Form 1040 more confusing than it appears

At first glance, the 1987 Form 1040 may look very much the same-but don't be fooled, cautions the Illinois CPA Society. The final results of two years of legislative work on tax reform law have, in effect, been summarized in the two-page 1040 form and the corresponding schedules:

Personal exemptions rise

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 doubles the worth of each personal exemption-the amoung subtracted from taxable income for self, spouse and each dependent. For 1987, that amount is $1,900-up from $1,080 in 1986-a big plus, particularly for large families. This affects both itemizers and nonitemizers. Single taxpayers will start to lose the benefit of personal exemption when income exceeds $89,560, and married persons filing jointly, $149,250.

Tax-exempt Interest, Line 9: Tax-exempt interest income (such as $1,900 for 1987--up from interest on certain state $1,080 in 1986. TRA '86 and municipal bonds) received during the tax year 1987 must be shown on this line.

Dividends Exclusion. Line 10: There is no longer an exclusion from income for the first $100 ($200 if filing jointly) or qualifying dividends. All dividends earned 1987 must be reported here.

Capital Gains-Line 14: Prior to tax reform, individuals could deduct 60 percent of their net long-term capital gains, but this deduction is no longer allowed. The full amount of net capital gains must be included in income and is taxed at ordinary income tax rates. For 1987 only, there is a cap of 28 percent on net long-term capital gains.

Pensions, Distributions, Line 16:

lump-sum tions for themselves on distributions from a retirement plan, 10-year forward averaging on a one-time basis by those at least 59 and one-half has been replaced by five-year averaging. Congress created a special transition rule that allows anyone who was at least 50 years old on Jan. 1, 1986, to choose whether to have the distribution taxed under current law or the old law.

All unemployment compensation received after 1986 must be included in income. whereas under prior law, it was partially excluded from income.

Retirement deductions, Line 24: Use lines 24 a and b to deduct IRA contributions. New rules in effect for 1987 may reduce or eliminate the deduction some taxpayers can take for contributions made to an IRA. The deduction a person can take for contributions to an IRA whether you or your spouse is covered by a retirement plan at work, and the amount of your Adjusted Gross Income.

An individual who is not an active participant in an employee retirement plan can still deduct an IRA contribution up to $2,000 of his or her earnings. If you or your spouse is covered by an employee retirement plan, you may be entitled to a full or partial deduction or no deduction at all depending on the Adjusted Gross Income of you and your spouse.

Self-employed Health Insurance Deduction-Line 25: This is a new deduction for 1987. Selfemployed taxpayers who pay for their own and their families' health insurance may be able to deduct 25 percent of the cost of this insurance from gross income.

Alternative Minimum

Tax-Line 49: Alternative The Minimum Tax provides a formula for tax computation which, in effect, disallows certain preferential tax treatment. Under TRA '86 the provisions for the Alternative Minimum Tax have been broadened and strengthened and the rate has been increased to 21 percent.

Fewer brackets

1987 is a transitional year, blending new and old tax rates. For 1987, there are five tax brackets, down from 15 under the old system. Beginning in 1988, there will be only two brackets, at rates of 15 and 28 percent.

Finding best way to Valentine's heart

Be rest and assured, when Valen-Symphony Orchestra and Chorus will tine's Day(that very personal holiday continue its 1987-88 season with Lynn invented by Halmark) falls on a weekend, like it does this year, the male animal would be wise to dig a little deeper and come up with more than a few posies and-or a box of frozen Fanny May from the corner drugstore.

Coming up with something a little special for that special gal in his life on the one holiday of the year devoted to love is bound either to reap romantic rewards at best, or at the least, keep

Why not make a memorable weekend of it, a sort of mini-winter vacation, made extra special if there are kids in the picture stowed with grandma or a babysitter for the weekend's duration.

Most chain inns in the area are offering special Valentine's Day weekend packages. Holiday Inns' offering varies slightly according to location. Some offer a romantic dinner on Saturday for $45, add an overnight interlude and a sumptuous buffet on Sunday and the price only goes up to $119 for everything, including a little bubbley.

Embassy Suites also have reasonable "Sweetheart Packages," that include a two-room suite, breakfast for two, complimentary beverages every two hours, swimming pool and sauna availability and more.

For the ultimate in weekend romance, in case your American Express still has room on it, its Saturday and Sunday at the Ritz Carlton in Water Tower Place in a four seasons suite, gallons of champagne and a sumptuous breakfast.

For those who are satisfied with a simple fantastic terribly expensive gourmet meal out Saturday or Sunday, suggestions run the financial gamut of the Valentine's special at the LaForet in Lake Forest; the Valentines celebration at the Pier Club in Fox Lake(either dine on Saturday evening, brunch on Sunday or sup on the crab leg specials on Sunday) to whatever at the Fig Leaf in Bannockburn, Le Tite de Paris in Buffalo Grove, to Dylan's in Wilmot, Wis. or dining from menu full from all over the world at the Red day!

Valentinos Ristorante on Milwaukee Ave. in Northbrook! They will not only be giving out red carnations but a serving heart-shaped pizzas and pasta.

For an unusual but most romantic Valentine, especially designed for lovers of the dance, the Pennsylvania and Milwaukee Ballet will be doing four romantic ballets in their Valentine's Theme Series, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at the Performing Arts Center in Milwaukee.

Topped by the most romantic of all, "Romeo and Juliet," the other ballets include, "The Steadfast Tin Soldier," "Love Songs," and "Menage a Quarte."

Then spend a romantic evening watching some of the most romantic films ever made via the VCR.

Choice picks for this one are: "Dirty Dancing,"(especially the finale dance scene); "Officer and a Gentlemen,"(love that ending!), "Casablanca," (rated the all time No.1 love story), "Whuthering Heights," (an oldie but goodie starring the best, Sir Lawrence Olivier and Vivian Leigh), Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert in "It Happened One Night" and the piece de resistance, "An Affair To Valentine's Barn Dance at the Remember," with Cary and Deborah!

Rogers' concert to benefit Special Olympics Feb. 27

The Northern Illinois Special Recreation Assn. presents the Eighth Annual Benefit Concert for Special Olympics at the Woodstock Opera House on Feb. 27 at 8 p.m.

Starring in this year's show are raconteur Gamble Rogers and national champion guitarist Pat Donohue.

Rogers' stage performance is a blend of far-reaching sophisticated humor, and impeccable, sometimes astounding guitar playing and singing. Rogers' monologues are the most unusual part of his act, serving up large doses of improbable storytelling, couched in language that combines the best efforts of Noah Webster and a "good ol' boy."

Donohue, winner of the 1983 National Fingerpicking Championships in Winfield, Kan., wowed audiences at the Woodstock Opera House as the opening act for Leo Kottke last September and for John Sebastian last April.

Not content with a series of guitar solos, his vocals and writing are as flexible as his champion guitar, and his clever easygoing sense of humor is engaging.

All proceeds from this concert are for the benefit of programs for over 250 youth and adults who participate in the Special Olympics in McHenry County.

All Special Olympics programs sponsored by the Northern Illinois Special Recreation Assn. are offered at no cost to in-district participants, and this benefit concert is a primary source for funding. The local Special Olympics needs the public's support.

Tickets for the show are priced at $9 and are available at the Woodstock Opera House box office and all Ticketron locations. For tickets or more information, call (815)338-5300.

"Love means never having to say you're sorry."

Romance in the movies has come a long way since Ali McGraw said that famous line to Ryan O'Neal in "Love Story" in 1970, a line which is, as O'Neal admitted in "What's Up, Doc?" in 1972, "the dumbest thing I've ever heard.'

Love and saying dumb things often go hand-inhand, in real life and on film. But some romantic films rise above the mush to become enduring love stories.

In honor of Valentine's Day, the following list of suggested movies to pop in the VCR is designed to provide diversity as well as a feel for cinematic romance through the years. I have selected one personal favorite from each of the past five decades.

CASABLANCA (1942): Considered by many the greatest screen romance, this Humphrey Bogart/Ingrid Bergman classic is the one with all | believe it or not, I found it in these movies. those famous lines like "Of all the gin joints in all the towns in all the world, she--" Well, you know the rest. The stars are at their best and this timeless film is well worth seeing more than once.

LADY AND THE TRAMP (1955): This Disney treasure features superb animation and memorable songs and characters. It is included here mainly because its most famous scene, in which Lady and Tramp are serenaded over spaghetti dinner in a moonlit alley, is widely remembered as one of the most genuinely romantic ever found in an animated Roth's novel, this romantic comedy alternates between very funny and serious. It features Richard Benjamin and Ali McGraw (pre-"Love Story") as a lighthearted and fun.

ANNIE HALL (1977): It perfectly captures the essence of dating in the 70s. Its surreal touches-like when Woody Allen and Diane Keaton talk for the first time as subtitles appear to show what they are really saying- make it one of the funniest and wisest films ever made about romance.

ABOUT LAST NIGHT (1986): This one, on the other hand, captures the essence of mating games in the 80s. Rob Lowe and Demi Moore are better than they've ever been as lovers struggling to turn a onenight stand into a real "relationship". It was unfairly criticized for a hokey "happily ever after" ending. Not so. The ending leaves the future uncertain but hopeful-and isn't that the way it really is?

And now for something completely different

✓ Dan

Ah, yes. It's that time of year when women's Valentine's dreams turn to diamonds and gold - and men's turn to bank loans...and a woman's favorite wine is..."buy me the marquis style diamond ring."

Unlike my counterpart on the other side of Cinema Corner, I believe romantic movies are a dime a dozen, though "romantic" does need clarification. A romantic movie to a grocer could be "Attack of the Killer Tomatoes." To a mechanic, it could be 'Grease."

My idea of a romantic movie is slightly different from the norm. For my Valentine's Day movie picks, I'd like to see a triple feature: "91/2 Weeks," "Fatal Attraction," and "Prizzi's Honor."

"Love is where you find it," the saying goes. And

Let's start off with a heart-wrenching film that leaves movie-goers with teary eyes..."91/2 Weeks."

That crazy fun-loving couple, played by Mickey O'Rourke and Kim Basinger, have a utopian relationship. This faithful woman stands by her man, no matter how much it hurts. In return, he doesn't make her wear a leash and choke collar outside the house. They're such an '80s couple.

The essence of wholesome marital relations is captured in "Fatal Attraction." Michael Douglas plays the husband who likes to have the best of both worlds. Anne Archer, the demure wife, knows how to GOODBYE, COLUMBUS (1969): Based on Philip | keep the love between them strong...she kills any woman who poses a threat to their marriage.

But the other woman, Glenn Close, needs love just as much as anybody. Douglas was just trying to help young Jewish couple involved in a summer fling. It's her out. It's such a bother when there's a jealous wife looking over one's shoulder.

Finally, "Prizzi's Honor" is the sort of gem that appears once in a blue moon. That bittersweet couple, hitmen Jack Nicholson and Kathleen Turner are always working...trying to improve the relationship even after a hard day on the job. The only problem they have is mixing business with pleasure. In the end, they take the saying, "Till death do us part," a bit too literally.

I hope you like my picks. See them with someone you love.

Alter egos make 'Passion Play' new

by TOM WITOM

Infidelity is a staple among playwrights, who have used it in their works for centuries.

But in Peter Nichols' "Passion Play" at Chicago's Goodman Theatre through Feb. 13, the subject is treated with freshness and ingenuity.

This feat is accomplished by using doubles for the two main characters, doubles whose presence is discernible only to the audience. As a result, an extra dimension is added; it's like watching a story unfold in 3D.

James and Eleanor square off after 25 years of marriage; he wants the security blanket of a wife and the thrill of a mistress while she wants him to choose one or the other.

Their alter-egos assume very real presences on the stage, lending a touch of humor, a bit of encouragement...a sense of anguish. At times, the doubles take on a life of their own, even crossing over and actually assuming the identity of the character whose conscience they play.

It may sound complicated, but it's not. In fact, the "extras" onstage take only a moment to get used to, and it is fun getting their instant feedback.

David Darlow is James, the 45-year-old art restorer whose fling with Seana McKenna (as Kate), the temptress young enough to be his daughter, proves his undoing. Holland Taylor, as Eleanor, the wife, still finds herself wanting to trust even when suspicion becomes the new order in her marriage.

Jim and Nell, the couple's inner selves, are provocatively played by Stephen Markle and Janice St. John. Ann Stevenson Whitney is Agnes, an embittered, forlorn castoff.

Surprisingly, the set chosen for "Passion Play" is sweeping, encompassing most of the Goodman's large stage and changing little from scene to scene. This is in direct contrast to the claustrophobia that builds as the characters explore their relationships and dance about that dangerous four letter word -- love.

As James finally concludes, "Love is a terrible thing. It means whatever you want it to be...so let's not either of us mention it again."

"Passion Play" is an expansive adult drama, one that evokes all sorts of mixed feelings, none of which is to be treated lightly. It looks compellingly at life without rose-colored glasses, something we all need to do at times.

CLC instructor makes religious pluralism films

College of Lake County philosophy instructor Steve Infantino and his wife, Cynthia Percak Infantino, have produced a five-part video series on American communities associated with major world religions called "A New Religious Pluralism in America."

The Infantinos produced the videos while Steve was on sabbatical from CLC.

The films look at Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam and Judaism, giving a brief introduction on the history of that religion in the United States, its basic beliefs, how the community operates, interviews with its adherents and footage of worship

The five titles are: "Tibetan Buddhism in Boulder, Colorado"; "The Mennonite Christians of Plow Creek Fellowship" (filmed near Peoria, Ill.); "Hinduism: Vedanta and the Vivekenanda Monastery" (filmed near Holland, Mich.,); "The Sunni Muslims of Dar al-Islam" (filmed near Santa Fe, N.M.); and "New Age Judaism at Havurat Shalom" (filmed in Somerville, Mass.).

Do your children tell you everything? If they have taken a spill, fallen off a bike, or injured themselves playing football, you may be the last to know. That's why it's important to give your children a Chiropractic Checkup regularly. Many times, untreated childhood accidents turn into spinal distortions that may not show up for months or years. Parents never really know how many little bumps, knocks, and falls their children have had. Why take a chance? Bring your children in for a Chiropractic Checkup. CALL TODAY!

THIS WEEK'S * HOROSCOPE ** *

BY SALOME Weekly Tip: Self-satisfaction is imperative.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) You need to be just a little bit more patient with that demanding, though lovable, person in your life. Watch your tendency to spout off when you're angry.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Check up on that friend's suggestion. She just may have hit on something you can put to good use. You must begin making major decisions now. Gemini (May 21-June 20) That sinking mood you've been in should end soon; watch for an abrupt change of pace. Feel confident enough to state your case for a promotion.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) You should be feeling much better about things — especially yourself. Plan to talk about your new project to those who have encouraging reports for you.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) One, Two, Three, Gol! This is the time for you to be on the move. Make all the headway you think is possible. Favorable indications accompany your efforts.

Virgo (Aug. 23. Sept. 22) Moving on to new social circles is one way of forgetting heartache. Some of your new acquaintances may become tomorrow's reliable buddies. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22) Financial matters are dominating your time now. Check all figures before making any payments. There's a possibility of a small loss nearing.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Look for opportunities in the changes which you are facing. You may not like what you are being offered, but search for openings where possible.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) You are getting too caught up in the smaller details of some project, thus letting the major moves go unnoticed. Think big for big results.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Any relations with the opposite sex — friend or lover — could take on some tensions now. Make an effort now to tone down any catty attitudes. Aquarius (Jun. 20-Feb. 18) That relationship may dissolve into complete nothingness if you're not careful. Unless that's what you really want, take measures to change this.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Take advantage of that positive feeling you have about yourself. You've been enjoying a pleasant phase, so see if you can make it last a while.

If you were born this week, you are a most honest in-dividual. You dedicate yourself to almost everything you do, thus making you a good friend to those fortunate enough to know you. But remember that others who don't know you well may want to take advantage of you; keep an eye out for these people. ©1988, McNaught Synd.

Nortran to help in venture to ease traffic congestion

Trustees of the North Suburban Mass Transit Dist. voted to become members of Transpart, a venture to ease traffic congestion in the north and northwest suburbs, at their last board meeting.

Nortran officials feel the presence of a mass transportation entity is important to any discussion of transportation provements.

"We need all the representation we can get in arenas where public transportation vs. roads." said Dist.

im- Chairman Harriet M. Rosene of Northfield. She clarified her statement by saying that while new roads and highway improvements may often be a solution, she would like public transportation to be given serious consideration as well.

The district's vote of approval was based on recommendations of its Planning and Executive Committees. Expressing the Planning Committee's interest, chairman Stanley T. Bristol of Northfield Twp. had advised that it was important to parin the ticipate subregional activities that would result from membership.

LCAVC Medical, Nursing ready for state competition

BILL DOTSON

Blood pressure won't e the only kind that tudents in the Lake County Area Vocational enter's Medical ssisting and Nursing ssisting Programs will ave to deal with soon. During the next few nonths, many of them vill also be coping with he pressure of preparing or the annual HOSA ompetition,

Health Occupations tudents of America, founded in 1976, is an organization designed to help students prepare for careers in the health care field. There are chapters in 38 states.

This year, the state competition is set for April 13, 14, and 15 at The Holidome in Springfield. LCAVC students will be competing with students from 22 other vocational centers throughout the state in 18 categories, including first aid, CPR. extemporaneous speech, technology, medical terminology, and nursing assistant. If the students are triumphant in Springfield, they will go on to compete at the national level.

Barb Boullear, the program's lead instructor, and Ruth Hangos, department aid, said the final decision on which students will be going has yet to be made. "There are certain criteria that have to be clerical, clinical, medical met", Boullear said. "They have to have a B average or better, have to be recommended by the lead instructor, and must have a good attitude and attendance record." Hangos added that the selections will be made soon.

> Rosa Flores, a senior from Antioch High School, and president of LCAVC's HOSA chapter, won fourth place in the extemporaneous speaking category at last year's national competition in Dallas, Texas.

She and HOSA Vicepresident Kandy Hermann, a senior from Lake Zurich, are both in their second year in the medical assisting program. The two agree that having been through the experience before gives the advantage of having some idea what to expect.

"You learn you have to be prepared for any emergency", Flores said. "For instance, last year, the dummies that we worked on had arteries shooting all over the place. People who weren't ready for something like that could freak."

Hermann, who plans to go on to become an EKG technician, pointed out that when the students go on to college, they "won't be going in blind, since we'll already have worked on this equipment before."

Together, program's instructors and the students are working hard to ensure that the future of America's health will be in good hands.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

FROM THE OFFICE OF DR. PAUL ABLER

EARLY RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

In its later stages, rheumatoid arthritis (RA) of the feet can be a major cause of crippling. But when it is detected early, the symptoms of RA can be relieved by conservative treatment. Your podiatrist can detect RA of the feet early in its course by gently putting pressure across the tops of certain joints-a test that is painless in persons with normal feet.

Another early warning is the so-called "daylight sign," when swelling around joints pushes the toes apart and makes the foot wider, so one can "see daylight" between the toes.

At this stage, patients may find that they need shoes two sizes wider and one size longer than usual. Other than this, there are few signs of arthritis, even on X-ray films.

Regular podiatric exams can help discover foot problems early enough so they'll respond to conservative treatment.

New laws affect children's exemptions and tax benefits

Tax reform has not been very kind to children, or to parents who are trying to save for children's their education. According to the Illinois CPA Society, tax reform has affected two of the most popular methods used by parents to reduce tax on savings for children.

New regulations now govern the taxing of money parents put in their children's names, and the tax benefits of Clifford Trusts have been eliminated. While taxpayers are enjoying a boost in the personal exemption, children are income, comes from eliminates this tax adnot so lucky. They can no longer take an exemption if they can be claiemd as a dependent on their parents' return.

Under old law, all the interest earned on money put in a child's name was taxed at the child's rate. The new actually has two sets of rules-one set for children under 14 and another for children 14 and older.

For a child under 14, the first $1,000 a year in unearned income will be taxed at his or her own rate. (Unearned income, referred to as investment dividends, interest, vantage. If a child can be capital gains, rents and the like.) All unearned income above that amount is taxed at the tion on his or her own parents'. highest return. marginal tax bracket.

Income from a job is always taxed at the child's rate, regardless of the child's age. For 1987, the standard deduction will offset the first $2,540 a working child earns.

Prior to tax reform, parents could claim a child on their tax return, and the child could claim an exemption as well. The new law, however, taken as a dependent on a parent's return, the child cannot take an exemp-

Incidentally, under the new law, to claim dependency exemptions, parents are required to list the Social Security numbers of all children who are at least five years old.

Short-term trusts have long been a common method for shifting income from a parent's higher tax bracket to a child's lower tax bracket.

these trusts, the Clifford Trust, allowed parents to transfer assets to a trust where the earnings from the assets were taxed to the child. By law, the trust had to last for more than 10 years, but when it expired, the trust's assets reverted back to the individual(s) who created the trust.

Clifford trusts set up prior to March 2, 1986 retain their tax-preferred treatment for transfers made prior to that date.

The Tax Reform Law does not state that you up after March 1, 1986 must be included in the grantor's taxable in-

It may very well make sense to shift some income to children, for tax purposes and to build a college savings fund. Remember--the first $1,000 of unearned income is still treated favorably. That means, at today's rates, a child under 14 can have more than $10,000 invested in his or her name before the investment income would reach the $1,000 point where earnings would begin being taxed

Alimony means special tax rules

Divorced or separated persons who pay or receive alimony under a court agreement should know the tax rules that affect them.

Alimony may be deducted by the person paying if certain requirements are met. If alimony is deductible by the payer, it is taxable to the recipient.

For payments under divorce or separation agreements made after 1984, or under pre-1985 agreements changed to specify that the new rules will apply, payments are treated as alimony if the following requirements are met:

-The payment is in

-The parties do not lesignate that the payment is not alimony.

-If the parties are legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance, he parties are not nembers of the same nousehold when the payment is made.

-There is no liability to make any payment (in cash or property) after he death of the recipient

-The payment is not reated as child support. -The parties do not file joint return for the year which the qualifying payments were made.

The payer can deduct alimony payments from gross income without itemizing deductions. The payer must include on his or her tax return the spouse's or former spouse's last name, if different from the payer's, and social security number. Failure to report the number may result in a $50 penalty.

If the spouse or former spouse fails to supply the payer with his or her social security number, a penalty of $50 may be imposed on the spouse or former spouse.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 changed the extent to which large alimony payments payments over $15,000) made in the first three years can be deducted as alimony.

Free IRS Publication 504, "Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals," explains the tax treatment of alimony in more detail.

Warren, Stevenson and Carmel will lead wrestling teams into sectional meet action at Barrington this weekend as both teams field seven wrestlers at Barrington.

Warren, which advanced to the sectional team level by winning the Antioch regional, will take eight grapplers to Barrington for the individual meet Feb. 12 and 13. Kevin Sullivan at 98 pounds, Tony Borucki at 105; Nic Tomasello at 112, Mike Frecking at 145, Scott Lidstrom at 155, Dave Geertz at 167, Bryan Beitzel at 185 and Conrad Divelbiss at heavyweight qualified.

The top three finishers in each weight class at regionals qualified.

Mike Bartz leads the Corsairs at 105 pounds, Jim McLaughlin at 138, Jason Smith at 145, Dave Shrofe at 155, Matt Salemme at 167; Steve Brock at 185 and Mike Reitz at heavyweight all qualified.

The Patriots will have seven at Barrington, including: Jerry Follett at 98, Jordy Constabileo at 112, Brian Eiser at 119, T.R. Jenkins at 126, Ed Jhin at 132, Kevin Burnicks at 145 and Dave Gonzalez at 167.

Antioch, which placed third in its own regional, will have six wrestlers at Barrington. Tim Tointon at 112 pounds; Billy Eves at 119, Dave Sheppard at 132, Tim Sandrick at 145; Brandon Parkhurst at 155 and Jason Aker at heavyweight made sectionals.

Tony Pintozzi at 98, Irv Domanski at 105 and John Mazur at 145 all advanced from Grant.

Lake Zurich will have five grapplers in the individual sectional meet. They are: Brian Barber at 119, Jim Anderson at 132, Dan Baldassano at 138, Mike-Barber at 145 and Dale Pijut at 185 Bears.

Jeff Harvey at 105, Rich Matta at 119, Jerry Chapman at 126 and Buddy Estes at heavyweight were Round Lake players who advanced.

Paul Velez at 105 pounds and Larry Brown at 119 advanced for Mundelein.

The Warren sectional proved to be a repeat of the dual meet between the Blue Devils and the Sequoits with Antioch coming out on top.

Antioch beat Warren 4,868 to 4,593. Round Lake was third with 4,080; Stevenson fourth at 3,877; Grayslake fifth with 3,861 and Grant sixth at 3,830.

The Sequoits qualified for this week's state meet at Peoria, where they finished 14th last year.

Positive thinking, counselors say, will help in any situation.

And that's why Carmel basketball Coach Scott Rosberg is pleased with his team's chances going into the Feb. 12 East Suburban Catholic Conference game at Notre Dame in Niles.

"It seems to me they are still positive. If you're not, then we have five games left," Rosberg said after the Corsairs lost to Marist 67-57.

The loss to Marist Saturday was the fourth straight since a double overtime win. Carmel is now 12-9 overall and 5-6 in the ESCC.

Carmel entered the Marist game without its standout center Scott Stahoviak. Stahoviak was injured in the eye during a loss to St. Viator the night before. Rosberg said Stahoviak could have practiced leading up to the Notre Dame game.

Couple that with a 15-4 spree by the visiting Redskins to start the game, and one could have forgiven Carmel for letting down.

"We showed a lot of character for the way we did comeback. But now we have to get over that hump," Rosberg said.

Carmel, led by the three-point shooting of Kevin Talz, who had 20 points, and inside play from Kevin Knight, Derek Shaw and Randy Bierman, kept coming back after Marist would gain nine or 10-point leads.

"Every time we would commit a turnover or make a mistake. You can't do that against that kind of compeition," Rosberg said.

Marist used the three-point bomb as an effective weapon, starting with its second basket of the game. Marist shot six-for-10 from beyond the three-point stripe.

Carmel trailed by 12 points with as late as 6:57 left in the game. Then the hosts put on a furious rally.

Using a pressing defense, the Corsairs gained a three-pointer from Talz point edge after one. and Sean McInerney, a layup by Bierman and two Knight free throws to trim the gap to 51-49.

Marist then put on a press of its own. Carmel committed three straight turnovers as the Redskins rebuilt their lead back to 10 with less than two minutes to go.

Following the 15-4 start, Carmel called timeout. The Corsairs answered with seven straight points, the last three coming on a three-point play by Knight. Marist regrouped to gain a six-

Despite the fact that Stahoviak had to be taken to the hospital following the injury, Carmel responded in "one one for the Gipper" style against St. Viator.

With less than 10 seconds left, Shaw hit a free throw for a one-point Carmel led. St. Viator answered with clutch free throws of its own.

Knight led Carmel's scoring efforts with 10 points but was the only Corsair to tally in double figures.

Elsewhere in the ESCC, Holy Cross nipped Joliet Catholic 61-57.

Antioch, Mundelein notch wins in regional openers

Mundelein and Antioch's girls in the losing effort. Wauconda finished basketball teams were among the four 2-23. area squads to advance to regional finals in girls basketball action, each seeking a bid in the Waukegan East sectional.

The Mustangs avanged a regional loss last year with a close 59-57 win over crosstown rival Carmel at Cary-Grove. Cary-Grove easily disposed of Wauconda 83-36 in the other regional game.

Susan Musselwhite scored 25 points and Rachel Lackie 18 to lead Mundelein to the win. Michelle Bruns had 24 for the Corsairs and Mary Marubio added 14.

Carmel led 13-12 after one, but MHS stormed back with an 16-8 second mel's turn to rally came in the third quarter, but the Mustangs, 15-10 before the regional final game, held on for dear life.

Ashley Struggles contributed 10 points for the winners.

Wauconda found itself trailing the Trojans 17-2 after eight minutes and never was in contention after that. Deb Westergaard scored 16 for the Bulldogs

At Grant, Antioch ousted the host Bulldogs 48-42. The Sequoits started strong and then held off fourth quarter rallies by the hosts.

"We got off to a good start but then we gave them a foot in the door," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

Antioch led 16-9 after one and 28-16 at halftime. The Bulldogs closed to within three points in final quarter rallies, though.

Tara Farnsworth led the Sequoits who won the regional title last year with 17 points. Kelly Maple had 14 points.

Tammy Loring scored 14 for Grant, quarter to gain a halftime lead. Car- 10 of those coming in the first half. Lesley Moroz scored 10 points for Grant.

> Round Lake also used a strong start to beat Grayslake 63-50.

> In other regional openers, Warren ran its record to 23-3 with a 40-18 win over Zion-Benton in its own regional and North Chicago beat Stevenson for the second time in one week with a 41-38 victory at North Chicago.
